

Self-help Empowerment through Education & Knowledge

SEEK Safely Press Release re: “Enlighten Us” Television Debut

Recently, James Ray’s lawyers petitioned the court in Yavapai County to set aside his conviction of negligent homicide for three deaths in Sedona in October, 2009. SEEK Safely and the families of the victims vigorously oppose the granting of this motion because we know Ray will use this ruling to further declare his innocence. He continually refers to the “accident” that cost him his business and liberty.

On Dec. 1, the CNN documentary, “Enlighten Us: the Rise and Fall of James Arthur Ray,” the incomplete version of what took place on October 8, 2009, will air nationally. In the film, Ray declares himself the “victim” of Sedona, an accident that has taught him how to overcome adversity. Not acknowledging or understanding how his actions actually caused these deaths leads us to believe he is still dangerous, not rehabilitated.

Please, check out our website www.SEEKsafely.org to get all the facts about what really happened at Ray’s Spiritual Warrior retreat. Join our mission to empower consumers to have safe and productive growth experiences. Help support our efforts to bring ethics and safety to this unregulated $11 billion industry through regulatory legislation and partnerships with those practitioners who truly want to help, not harm their followers.